MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, JULY 12, 1792.

VIENNA, April 15.

A BODY of troops, under the command of general Wallis, is marching into Lower Auſtria, attended by 21 field pieces, ſix-pounders—8 twelve-pounders, and 2 mortars; 24 battalions of infantry, and 14 diviſions of cavalry, all 20,850 men, and attended by 84 pieces of artillery, ſix-pounders, 12 twelve-pounders, and 12 mortars, ſent on this route for the Netherlands.

PARIS, April 9.

An intercourſe of friendſhip and familiarity is commencing between the French and the Auſtrian troops, on the Flemiſh and French frontiers.—The greateſt part of an Auſtriac regiment went, a few days ſince, from Lille; were entertained in the barracks with, and left the city, upon their return to their own [illegible], ſhouting Vive le Nation.

April 25. The decrees relative to the ſequeſtration of the eſtates of the emigrants has been inforced in the letters of the municipality at Paris.

The moſt poſitive orders have been iſſued for the troops to march. General Luckner is to take poſſeſſion of the defiles of Porentruy, conformably with the treaty between France and the biſhop of Baſle. The new army, reinforced with a detachment from that of the north, is to advance towards Luxembourg.—M. de Rochambeau is to march towards Mons.—Van Merlin has accepted a poſt in the French army; he is to act as Marechal de Camp.

The emigrants have beſpoke 16,000l. tents and other camp equipage. The two millions of livres which they have lately received, are from the king of Naples.

The elector of Treves, the moment he was informed of the king's ultimatum, ſent a courier to Vienna, intimating that the emigrants might be permitted to aſſemble and to take up arms. It was expected, that by the 25th of April they would be completed, armed, and embodied. The laſt diviſion of the Brigaw army arrived at Fribourg. Generals Wallis and Cyboury, in full uniform at the head of 30 battalions, conſiſting of 2500 men each.

The Pruſſians in the duchy of Cleves have received orders to put themſelves on a war eſtabliſhment.

Precautions have been taken that all the troops may be ready at the ſame time to begin a campaign. At Landau, 12,000 Pruſſian troops are to be quartered. A great quantity of field pieces, ſome 36 pounders, are on the road from Malines for Mons. Almoſt the whole garriſon of Bruſſels is to march towards the frontiers.

The firſt military operations on our part, will, it is ſaid, be directed againſt the electorates of Treves and Cologne. The army under M. de la Fayette will be employed in this ſervice. The general is eager d'en venir aux mains with the emigrant princes.

From ſeveral parts of the interior of France, the moſt melancholy news is received.——Letters from Rouen declare, that it is now no longer poſſible to number the chateaux which have been pilliaged and reduced to aſhes. Letters from Perpignan make mention that the houſes, ſhops, &c. have been plundered by ſets of ruffians, who, elated by ſucceſs, attacked churches, &c. overthrew altars, ſtatues, &c.

Paris has been obliged to pay a ſum of 80,000 livres as a ranſom. The Marſeillois army is daily increaſing, and it is no longer a ſecret that their object is to erect the ſouthern provinces into a republic. The city of Marſeilles has advanced them a ſum of 100,000 livres.

Yeſterday the miniſter for foreign affairs informed the national aſſembly that M. de Semonville, who was appointed by the king miniſter plenipotentiary at the court of Turin, has been arreſted at Alexandria, on his journey from Genoa to Turin, by order of his Sardinian majeſty, on pretence that he had no paſſport from the Sardinian government. The court of Turin had iſſued orders not to permit M. de Semonville to enter Piedmont; and M. d'Hauteville, miniſter for foreign affairs, has ſent a courier to the court of France with diſpatches full of complaints againſt the ambaſſador, and ſaying that it was exceedingly dangerous to allow him to reſide at Turin. He is alſo accuſed of having endeavoured to excite tumults. His Sardinian majeſty requeſts the king of the French to appoint another ambaſſador in his room.

M. de Semonville has written ſeveral letters to M. de Sandoz, the French ſecretary of legation, complaining of the inſurrection lately offered to the repreſentative of the French nation.

M. Semonville then read a copy of the diſpatches he has ſent to M. de la Lande. In theſe diſpatches he expreſſes his ſentiments that a French miniſter ſhould be inſulted and arreſted, while the perſons who have originally occaſioned the diſturbances openly preach the contempt due to the authority of legation.

To ſolve on the atrociouſneſs of the orders given by the Sardinian government for the arreſtation of M. Semonville. 2d. To demand an explanation with in 24 hours. 3d. To go to M. de Semonville, and to there profeſs him to his Sardinian majeſty. 4th. If the court of Turin ſhould not obſerve the laws of good neighbourhood, to withdraw himſelf from Turin, and to accompany the French miniſter to Genoa.

The tenor of theſe diſpatches was highly applauded.

M. Bourgoing, the French ambaſſador at Madrid, has written to M. Dumouriez, and informed him that Spain neither is, nor has the abilities of becoming hoſtile to France, and that the cordon of troops on the frontiers conſiſts of only 12 or 15,000 men.

COBLENTZ, April 17.

It is ſaid, that yeſterday a meſſenger arrived from M. Dumouriez, the French miniſter, with diſpatches to our elector, requiring him to give an immediate and categorical anſwer to the queſtion, "Whether the elector does acknowledge the preſent conſtitution as the true and only conſtitution of France, or not?"—This queſtion is aſked with a threat, that if the elector does not acknowledge the preſent conſtitution of France, that nation will oblige him to do it. The ſame meſſage was ſent to Mentz; and, in conſequence, couriers have been ſent to two great powers.

DUBLIN, April 1.

In the courſe of the laſt week, at Ballinamore, the ſeat of Thomas Ormſby, Eſquire, four of his labourers were found dead, having been ſuffocated from the rarification of the air in the room where they ſlept: This melancholy conſequence aroſe from a lighted turf having been left burning where there was no chimney for the egreſs of the heated air.

There were eight men in the room, all of whom were inſenſible: but from the kilful means which were adminiſtered, four of them were reſtored to life: The ſtate of the others baffled every attempt of recovery which ſkill could ſuggeſt, or humanity employ; the organs of reſpiration had ſo long ceaſed to act, that no new impulſe could be given.

The firſt act of liberality from a proteſtant government to Roman catholics on the continent, was done by the late king of Pruſſia, who built a moſt elegant church, furniſhed it with an organ, and every ſuitable decoration for the uſe of ſuch catholics, ſtrangers or ſubjects as were reſident at Berlin. The compliment was ſoon returned by the three eccleſiaſtical electors of Mentz, Trieves, and Cologne, the biſhop of Hohenloe, Saltzburgh, &c. So that Lutherans and Calviniſts, are not only tolerated, but proteſted and careſſed in all thoſe ſtates.

BELFAST, May 1.

We are informed that an aſſociation is forming in London for the purpoſe of forwarding a reformation in the Britiſh parliament in which ſome very eminent characters are taking a lead, and from whom much is expected.

LONDON, May 3.

A letter from an Engliſh gentleman at Peterſburgh gives a very curious account of the preſent ſtate of that court. The murder of the king of Sweden made a ſtrong impreſſion on the empreſs; but it gave ſuch an alarm to the ſuſceptible, as was perceptible to every one. He talked publicly of plans formed to carry him off; and in a converſation with her majeſty, he ſpoke in the moſt unmeaſured terms, deporting himſelf, ſays the letter, "neither as a ſon, nor as a ſubject." The health of the empreſs is not merely on the decline. There is evidently a thorough break up of the conſtitution. Her death, though it will make no change in the abject condition of the people, will be the era of a material change in the empire, for it is likely to be diviſed.

BOSTON, June 25.

MR. COX—THE ARTIST,

Of this town, was in Ireland, at the date of our laſt accounts from thence, April 6, and in high reputation, continually receiving applications for building bridges, and performing other efforts of enterpriſe. He was then contemplating the conſtruction of a dam for the grand canal company, and had offers to engage in the building of two large bridges, one 1000 and another 700 feet long—the timber to be the production of the American ſoil. The account publiſhed ſome time ſince, of his being engaged in levelling the monument in London, was not authentic—the above is.

The French patriots fired with enthuſiaſtic ardour—and the emigrant princes and their adherents, ſtimulated by revenge, will not leave a bloodleſs field in any encounter. "Fellow ſoldiers, ſays the Britiſh tar, "there will be no playing ſoldier there."

A brig arrived here on Wednesday laſt, from Port-au-Prince, the departure of which is ſaid, that three days previous to his ſailing, a tranſport arrived from Nantes, with 300 troops, to be employed there for three years to quell the negroes inſurrection. That the inſurrections at the Cape ſtill remain [illegible] and there is no proſpect of quelling thoſe barbarous aſſailants. The preſent diſturbances in France, will undoubtedly, prove fatal to the powers of France, or ſome of her Weſt-India iſlands.

On Thurſday arrived here from Longane, the ſchooner Commerce, captain Clemens, having on board near 200 families, belonging to the iſland of Hiſpaniola.

FRENCH WAR.

June 28. Engliſh papers as late as the 20th April, (received by captain Norton from Liverpool) mention that the declaration of war againſt the king of Hungary and Bohemia, was formally declared throughout Paris, on the 21ſt, amongſt the greateſt concourſe of people ever ſeen on ſuch an occaſion. That the Ruſſian fleet would paſs the Sound in a few days, and rendezvous either in the Downs or at Torbay; but none of the Britiſh ports were expected to be open for their reception. The French commerce was likely to ſuffer in the conteſt, as privateers from various ſtates would rendezvous at Oſtend, and ſailing under Brabant colours, would pick up the merchant ſhips of France; but that great preparations were making in France for the immediate capture of that place.

NEW-LONDON, June 28.

As a proof that many exotic plants can be raiſed in this fertile country, there is now growing in natural ground, in the garden of Mr. P. Bradford in Montville, adjoining this town, a caper-tree, full of that fruit, and equal in appearance to any imported from France, or any other foreign country.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5.

MARECHAL LUCKNER.

The citizens of Straſbourgh have preſented a civic crown to this reſpected old ſoldier, with the following ceremonies:

On the morning of 4th April, the day appointed for the ceremony, the municipal officers, the citizens, and the members of ſocieties, met in the Hall, where three ladies, the wives of the members of the jacobins club, were elected to the honour of preſenting the general with the crown.

The proceſſion then began, with the muſic of all the regiments of the garriſon, followed by two pieces of cannon. The ladies came next, ſurrounded by four veterans of the national guards, one of whom carried the crown at the end of a pine, covered with the bonnet rouge. A band of young citizens, with a ſecond crown, followed; and the members of ſocieties in the two departments of the Rhine concluded the proceſſion.

The ſtreets were lined with an immenſe crowd——whoſe ſhouts were heard throughout the whole city.

When the proceſſion reached the general's houſe, the muſic played "Ou peut on être mieux," and the ladies placed the crown upon the head of the old ſoldier, who was ſo much affected by the ceremony, that he could but declare his inability to return thanks for the honour paid to him by his fellow-citizens, and retire.

The flight and terror of the PRINCE of HESSE, and the ſteady determination of his army, has given a leſſon to the German ſtates, from which they will profit. They have tried in vain to conceal the fact. It has ſpread through every petty tyranny, and the effect on the troops of every deſpot has been the ſame. The army of the prince of Heſſe have drawn up a ſort of military charter of rights, which they have bound themſelves to one another that he ſhall ſign, before they return to their obedience.

Laſt Sunday will be remarkable in the hiſtory of the climate of Pennſylvania.

At two o'clock, P. M. the mercury in the thermometer ſtood at ninety-one degrees in the ſhade; there was at the ſame time a ſtrong breeze of wind from the north-weſt.

About half after three, heavy clouds began to ariſe from the north and north-weſt, and immediately commenced a moſt tremendous hurricane, which laſted for near fifteen minutes, with aſtoniſhing violence.

One of the large windows of Chriſt church was blown into the iſle, which, though it was during the time of divine ſervice, did no injury to any of the congregation. Several houſes were unroofed, many ſtacks of chimnies blown down.

The river exhibited a moſt awful ſcene—the veſſels in the harbour were tolled to and fro in every direction, and many were overſet. A brig was driven on the bar, and remains there aground; and a ſine ſhip lying near Vine-ſtreet, was forced from her moorings, and overſet—fortunately, ſhe had no ballast; ſhe drifted on her beam ends with the tide about a mile down the river, and then got aground; it is to be hoped ſhe will be brought up, without having received any material injury.

Throughout the whole of this furious tempeſt, we have heard of no lives being loſt, except a boy, who was drowned by the overturning of one of the boats.

Notwithſtanding the above account, we further learn, that a boat from this city to the Jerſey ſhore was ſtove set within five rods of Samuel Cooper's wharf. There were in the boat captain Scott, Mrs. Drake, his wife, and four small children, a young woman and Mr. Betts, in all nine persons, none of whom could swim but captain Scott.

The captain, by the most unwearied and praiseworthy exertions, was able providentially, to save them all. He swam ashore with one child hanging round his neck, and one on each arm; and he returned to the boat amidst the boisterous waves raging in a furious and frightful manner, and brought the others, who had with much difficulty held by the boat, safe to land.

For the honour of captain Scott, an old and valiant soldier, a son of Massachusetts, this circumstance should be handed down to posterity.

Those who revere the virtues of the benevolent Howard, must ever remember, with veneration, those successful exertions of captain Scott.

On the 27th ult. captain Stake's troop of light dragoons, consisting of eighty non-commissioned officers and privates, marched from Reading to Pittsburgh—The composition of officers and men belonging to this troop are excellent—They are well mounted, and perfectly equipped—It is not to be doubted, that, under favourable circumstances, they will render honour to themselves and their country, whenever they shall be called into action.

Extract of a letter from Knoxville, territory of the United States, south of the river Ohio, June 2, 1792.

"The Indians are still troublesome; they attacked judge Campbell on his way from court; there were four others in company, but all escaped. Two boys were killed about twelve miles from this place, and a man fired at by four Indians about twenty miles off—each ball passed through his cloaths, but did no further mischief.

"The governor has been in their towns. A numerous representation of the chiefs and warriors from the Lower towns on Chickamogga attended: they now shew signs of a desire for peace; how far they are to be depended on you may guess—they are Indians."

July 6. On Saturday last, as a number of boys were bathing in a brick pond, near this city, one of them, wandering from the rest, got into a deep hole and disappeared. After some time he was missed by his comrades, who at first supposed that he had designedly hid himself; but at length several of them beginning to entertain fears of his being drowned, gave the alarm to a man whom they observed passing near the spot, who called to his assistance a number of workmen employed in the brick yard, and all of them immediately plunged into the water in search of the unfortunate lad. One of them who knew the deepest part of the pond, with his feet felt the body, went down, and immediately brought it up, but in attempting to convey it to another person let it go, and it sunk to the bottom, he went down a second time, and again bringing up the body, the other received and carried it to the nearest house and laid it on a blanket, to all appearance dead. They immediately proceeded to rub it with salt, which, in about twenty minutes produced some slight symptoms of returning animation, succeeded by a discharge of water from the nose. At this time a physician arrived who recommended and assisted in the rubbing, and in about three hours, to the great satisfaction of all present, the lad was so far revived as to be able to turn himself in bed, and is now very well.

The circumstances of this accident are thus particularly related, to induce those who may hereafter be present at cases of a like nature, to use their utmost endeavours to restore to life those who may unhappily meet with the like misfortune of this boy, who, by the benevolent exertions of the above-mentioned humane persons, is thus happily snatched from the jaws of death, and restored to society, and his grateful father, Mr. Waggoner, shoemaker, in Third near Race-street.

It is supposed that the boy must have laid under the water upwards of twenty minutes and had so much the appearance of a person who had utterly lost the functions of life, that some persons present pronounced it unnecessary to make any trials for his recovery; the others, however, were determined to persevere, and happily succeeded.

NORFOLK, June 30.

On the 25th instant, the brig Washington, William Smilley, master, from Edenton, North-Carolina, arrived off Ocracock bar; captain Smilley was informed by the pilot there, that seven men and two boys had landed there on the 20th, and the next day hired a pilot boat to carry them to Washington, leaving the two boys behind them.—Upon being questioned, the boys informed the people that they had murdered the captain, the mate, and the cabin boy of the brig ——, and having attempted to scuttle her, left her, and also that they had left a woman passenger on board.

Whereupon, —— Wallis, with a party of militia, took a boat, pursued them, and lodged most of them in Washington gaol. The vessel was loaded with tobacco, indigo and rice, from Savanna, bound to France.

On Monday last, the 25th, the above mentioned vessel was taken up in the Capes, by a schooner and pilot boat, and was, on Wednesday last safely conducted into this port, where she now is.—The account the woman gives is nearly similar to the above. She says she saw them throw the captain overboard, and saw him afterwards; is sorry for the fact, but does not know what became of the mate and the cabin boy. As she could not perceive any blood in any part of the vessel, after she was delivered from some chickens she was to destroy her, while they cutted her, and that she might lay there and starve—and after pestering her in the most brutal manner, left her to the mercy of the winds and seas.

ELIZABETH-TOWN, July 4.

By respectable information we have received, we have the following interesting circumstance, viz. "A soldier who had been taken in possession of the 4th of November last, has returned, and declares that general Butler is safe and well!!!"

We are sorry to think that the above intelligence is no more than barely possible.

BALTIMORE, July 5.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Lexington, Kentucky, to his correspondent in Carlisle, dated May 21.

"The Indians have been doing a considerable damage about Frankfort—they were pursued over the Ohio by a party of volunteers, but they found the Indians too strong to attempt an attack, and returned without doing any thing."

Extract of another letter from the same place.

"Our convention did, in one week, make a constitution; the next week that constitution was unanimously adopted; and now our representatives, electors, sheriff, and coroner, being chosen, and after them our governor and senators, viz. Governor, Isaac Shelby;—Senators, John Campbell, for Jefferson county; John Logan, for Lincoln; —— Caldwell, for Nelson; William M'Dowell, for Mercer; Robert Todd, for Fayette; Thomas Kennedy, for Madison; John Allen, for Bourbon; Robert Johnson, for Woodford; Alexander D. Orr, for Mason. Extra Senators, Alexander S. Bullet, Payton Short. The wheels of that constitution will, on the 4th of June, be put in motion. The large brick market-house is now converted into an assembly-room. The buildings carrying on here are really surprising."

ANNAPOLIS, July 12.

Every recent letter from Spain brings some new instance of the growing spirit of revolt in that country.—It manifested itself in Catalonia, where the hardy disposition of the natives is proverbial. Castille and Arragon have followed the example, and if the recitals which have reached us, be well founded, despotism and the inquisition have both seen their day.

A SUCCESSFUL SPEC.

During the civil war between Charles the first and his parliament, at the time when the royalists began to despair of overcoming their enemies, the equestrian statue of the monarch was put up at auction. A cutler, who had a mind to speculate on this circumstance, bought it for a trifling sum of money. Being asked what he intended to do with it, he replied, that it was his intention to melt it into handles for knives. Accordingly, he furnished his shop with a prodigious number of knives with bronze mounting. In a short time his warehouse was full of customers; persons of both parties ran to purchase knives—the handles of which were made from a statue of a king of England. To the royalists, it afforded a melancholy but precious remembrance of their dear master; and as to their antagonists, this extraordinary circumstance was not a little flattering to their republican pride. The mechanic, in the mean time profited by the enthusiasm of his countrymen, and doubled the price of his commodity, notwithstanding the rapidity of its sale; so that in two or three years, he realized a considerable fortune.

All this time, however, the public had been duped. The statue had not been melted, as the cutler had asserted, but only buried in the ground, and was actually, on the restoration of Charles II. dug up and restored to that prince, who ordered it to be placed on a new base at Charing-Cross, where it remains to this day and probably will remain, as long as monarchy is suffered to continue in England. When monarchy falls, the statue may perhaps come down once more, and be the subject of a new lie, equally successful with the former one.

ANECDOTE.

A clergyman in Devonshire, G. B. remarkable for nothing but his wit, and a life perfectly inconsistent with his profession, particularly in the practice of pugilism, one Sunday, after divine service, had a quarrel with some of his parishioners in a public house, in consequence of which a severe battle ensued, and though he had several to encounter with, yet the parson gained a complete victory. The next Sunday his antagonists appeared at church with black eyes, and other marks of the parson's prowess, who to mortify them the more, preached on these words of Nehemiah, xiii. 25. "And I contended with them, and cursed them, and smote certain of them, and plucked off their hair, and made them swear by God."

FROM the very trifling collections that the subscribers have hitherto been enabled to make, of the debts due for dealings at their late store at Queen-Anne, on Patuxent, they feel themselves under the disagreeable necessity of informing those debtors, that suit will be commenced to next court, to recover all the accounts that are not paid before that time.

RAN away from the subscriber, about the first instant, a negro man named JOHN, he is about 22 years of age, 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high, very black, has a down look, long visage, and a remarkable long swinging walk, he is a tolerable good coarse shoe-maker; had on when he went away a short deep blue broad cloth coat, not much worn, a jacket, and corderoy breeches, a pair of thin leather pumps and white yarn stockings; he also took with him a brownish coloured linsey-woolsey coat, much worn, a new under jacket of flannel or jeans, and more than probable he had many other cloaths which I know nothing of; I think he will attempt to pass as a free man under the name of Butler. Whoever takes up the said slave, and secures him, so that I get him again, shall be paid the sum of Six Dollars, and all reasonable charges.

Messieurs John Davidson, James Shaw, John Randall, of Annapolis; colonel Uriah Forrest, colonel William Deakins, of George-town; colonel Peter Sollie, captain Levin Handy, of Worcester; Gustavus Scott, Alexander Douglass, William Bond, James Rees, of Dorchester; Samuel Chamberlaine, William Hindman, Esquires, of Talbot; colonel William Richardson, Peter Edmonston, Esquires, of Caroline; and James Hollyday, Esquire, of Queen-Anne's.

The above property in Dorchester county, has been added to the subscribers by Clement Hollyday, for the purpose of redeeming certain notes of hand passed by him to sundry persons, in small sums, to the amount of about £. 100. As a sale by lottery is the most probable mode of disposing of it to advantage, and of acquiring ready money for it, Mr. Hollyday is desirous that we should proceed to that method, and that we should receive, and retain in our hands, the money arising on the sale of the tickets, for the purposes above mentioned, and also to satisfy sundry of his creditors, some of whom have liens on that property, and who, therefore, no doubt, will acquiesce in this mode of disposing of it. The property is valued at a moderate valuation. Proper deeds will be executed to those who may be entitled to them after the drawing of the lottery, and the cash prizes paid on demand. It is intended that the drawing shall commence in the city of Annapolis, on the 2nd day of October next. Notice will be given of the time, and a list of the fortunate numbers published immediately after drawing.

Inspection House for Tobacco.

THIS is to give public notice, that the inspection house for tobacco, at Beard's Point, on South river, in Anne-Arundel county, is now in readiness to receive tobacco for inspection; and, from the large quantity of that article made in the neighbourhood of the river aforesaid, it is expected that a considerable number of hogsheads will be brought to this house during the present summer for inspection; and, from the superior quality, it is presumed all persons wishing to purchase tobacco may be well accommodated, and that upon good terms.

It is thought unnecessary to expatiate on the many advantages of this warehouse, as it is so well known to be situated on a beautiful and navigable river, and but little more than two miles distant from the bay: it is also well known that the tobacco raised in that part of Anne-Arundel county is precisely the same in quality as the tobacco usually inspected at Dyer's landing on Patuxent, which has always been found to be the European market as well, if not better, than tobacco of the growth of any other part of Maryland.

June 6, 1792. 4

By virtue of a deed of trust, will be offered at public sale, for ready money, on Monday the 16th of July next,

Eight Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber, on the 12th inst. a negro man named WILL, about 23 years of age, five feet nine or ten inches high; had on, when he went away, a round felt hat, osnabrig shirt and trousers, and a coarse cloth over jacket, short and round, he had other cloaths with him, which cannot well be described, he is likely, of a very dark complexion, full faced, and has a remarkable fine set of teeth, he is slow of speech, and rather awkward in his manners, is a tolerable good blacksmith, but has never worked as foreman of a shop; he was formerly the property of Henry May, late of this county, blacksmith. This fellow was taken out of gaol at Alexandria, in Virginia, about eight days ago, but has since made his escape; when he was apprehended he had a forged pass in his possession, and it is expected he may have procured another. Whoever takes up the said negro and brings him to me, or secures him in any gaol so that I get him again, shall receive the above reward. RICHARD BEARD.

N. B. It is probable this fellow may endeavour to pass for a free man, as there are many free blacks passing about the country; when he went to Alexandria his intention was to have made his escape by water, I therefore forewarn all masters of vessels and others, from harbouring or concealing him at their peril, if they should they may expect to be dealt with agreeably to law. This scheme contains several very valuable lots of land contiguous to the city of Washington, whose increase in value will keep pace with the growth of the rising empire of the United States of America—Hence, therefore, without any further definition, it will be evident that for the small sum of one Guinea a valuable and beautiful country seat may be obtained in the vicinity of the capital of America, or a lot in a town now possessing an extensive commerce.

The subscriber proposes drawing this Lottery in George-Town, on the first Monday in May next, or sooner, if the tickets are all sold, which he flatters himself will be the case from his present prospects. Deeds, with a general warranty, will immediately be given for the lots of land, and the money for the cash prizes will be paid on demand. Notice will be given of the drawing in the public papers, and a list of the fortunate numbers will be immediately published. The crop now on the lots is reserved to the subscriber.
